SUN BEAMS

By WALTER M. BARRETT

This week the Truckee Lions club is observing its eighth birthday with the annual Charter Night program Saturday evening. There are those who will tell you that the club has not justified its existence as a service club, but they are either grossly misinformed or sadly lacking in understanding of the word service. It may or may not be news that during the seven years the club has been functioning more than $4,000 has been donated to worthy local projects, the needy have been cared for from the treasury of the organization and various other unadvertised acts of good will and charity have been sponsored by the Lions. Many more worthwhile projects are contemplated and will be accomplished without boast or thought of self gain. We take pride in our affiliation with the Lions and believe Truckee should be grateful for such a civic unit.

Don't forget your fire department is sponsoring a dance at Masonic hall Saturday night. Tickets are on sale and indications are that the night will offer a full program of fun, but even if you do not dance you may purchase a ticket and thus show the department they have your support.

Truckee youths will come into their own next Tuesday when they will hold sway at a gala Hallowe'en party being arranged by and for them. The party, preparations for which are rapidly nearing completion will be offered as a test. Providing the affair results in vandalism being eliminated, then next year even more features will be added, but if the pranksters continue, despite the party to cause damage, no more parties will be arranged. The boys and girls themselves will be the court and jury and will decide the issue themselves. We hope it works.

Fire Destroys Three Cars On Cisco Siding

Work Train Saved By Quick Work Of Two Fire Train Crews

LOSS WAS OVER $3,000

Spark Settles On Roof Of Car To Start Threatening Blaze

Southern Pacific fire trains were called from Norden and Emigrant Gap Sunday morning to confine a blaze to a dining car and two bunk cars on a work train at Cisco that threatened to prove far more serious than the approximate $3,000 damage done. Besides the three cars, the personal effects of several workers were destroyed.

According to Roadmaster Vernon Pearson who was called to supervise the fire fighting, a spark which had fallen on the roof of one of the cars caused the conflagration. After attacking the original car, the fire swept across to the adjoining track where the others burned before the fire trains could reach the scene.

The damaged property was located in the center of a long string of cars which escaped because of the fast and efficient work of the firefighters.

BODY OF DEAD MAN FOUND IN AUTO IS SHIPPED TO HOME

The body of Walter Draper, 65, a railway mail clerk from North Freedom, Wisconsin, who died after parking his car half way up Donner grade Tuesday, presumably from the effects of carbon monoxide gas, was shipped to Wisconsin yesterday by the H. W. Laity Funeral Home.

Draper's body was found in his car by State Patrolman F. E. Walker who said that the gas filled sedan had been parked on the highway, the brakes set and the motor left running. No indication of suicide was in evidence and while the gas may have induced the attack, an examination revealed a heart attack had been the direct cause of death, Laity reported.

Draper was a veteran of the Spanish American war. He had been on a motor vacation, according to a diary found among his possessions.

Letters indicated he had several surviving children in the east.

Truckee First Known As Coburn Station Its History Reveals

Following is another in a series of articles on the history of Truckee as taken from Edward's Tourist Guide and Directory of the Truckee Basin, published in 1883.

About 14 miles from the source of the Truckee River is located the town of Truckee. Its history is an eventful one. Previous to 1865 it was simply a watering and feed station on the great wagon thoroughfare from Sacramento to Virginia City and places further east, on what was known as the Dutch Flat Wagon route, and at that time the favorite road for emigrants. It was then called Colburn Station.

In 1867 Colburn Station which was just opposite where the Truckee Lumber Co., now have their factory, consisted of two or three houses, two blacksmith shops, a small country store and a building known as "Coburn's." Here the emigrant paused to rest and obtain refreshments; the teamster, plodding with his heavy load, hailed Coburn's as a place where he could rest his beasts and obtain food and refreshments for himself.

The gold fever of '48 that brought the great influx of emigrants and started the development of California had but little to do with the development of Truckee. However pleasing to the artists eye, this section found no favor in the mind of the practical gold seeker. The river yielded not the precious particles and the ground panned not of the color. For a time in 1850 there was a rush to Donner Lake caused by Dame Rumor, who told of deposits of fabulous richness, but the dream soon vanished and gold seekers sought other fields and pastures new. Then followed the discovery of the world famous Comstock in 1859 and thousands upon thousands passed through Truckee basin on their way to the Washoe mines. Turnpike roads were built, the Truckee river was bridged, the Henness Pass and Donner Lake routes resounded with the crack of the bullwhacker's whip, and were thronged with crowds of excited silver seekers as eager and enthusiastic as the gold seeks a few years before.

Complication In Closing Border Stations Looms

Quarantine Station Men Will Not Seek For Stolen Automobiles

DEPARTMENTS DIFFER

Order To Close Stations For Economy Not To Be So Easy

New complications have followed the most recent order to abandon the motor vehicle department's border registration stations.

Last week when recently-appointed Motor Vehicle Director Howard Philbrick announced that he had already made arrangements for the state's department of agriculture quarantine stations to take over some of the duties of the checking stations, the announcement brought forth a protest from D. B. Mackie, chief of the bureau of entomology, who declared that the agriculture employes have no authority or intention to question drivers about their licenses of the legal ownership of the cars.

"We're looking for bugs," one high official in the agricultural department declared, "and have no authority to look for fugatives and stolen cars."

Philbrick's order closing the border checking stations came less than two months after Frank W. Clark, former acting director of motor vehicles, had rescinded an earlier abandonment order.

While the quarantine stations will not assume the numerous and important duties of the checking units, such as collecting thousands of dollars revenue each year, offering a worthy public service as an official greeter to the state as well as the invaluable unofficial police work, they will continue to give the motor vehicle department any information which they have providing it is asked for.

SETTLE IT AT THE POLLS

It won't be long now! With the November 7 deadline rapidly approaching, California's decision on a proposal to chase rainbows in the hope of finding a pot of gold, will soon be written in history.

Uslike wayfarers led astray by unmarked roads in a strange land, the resocrd turnout of voters anticipated for the November election will have little excuse for following any deceptive "rainbow trail" to misfortune.

The virtually unanimous disapproval of the ham-and-eggs plan by educators, merchants' associations, farm groups, and scores of other civic and patriotic organizations, constitutes a clear-cut warning against the hazards of any such course. None wants prosperity more than these groups do. But such a goal simply cannot be reached by a prodigious tax on the working population of California. And this, in disguised form, is precisely what this pension scheme proposes. Under its terms, California's wage earners would be forced to hand over $1,248,000,000 annually in real money to support 800,000 persons—a conservative estimate—on the ham and eggs pension.

Though this plan argues the impossible its sponsors have not hesitated to make the sky the limit in advancing misleading claims for it. They have accused opponents of being heart less and indifferent to the needy. One result of these unfair charges has been to arouse Thrity-Thursday advocates to threaten boycotts against business establishments and stores refusing to accept warrants. Other patrons of these same places have, in turn, threatened to boycott them if they do accept the warrants.

A moratorium on these inflammatory threats of boycott and counter boycott is needed. This issue, however sharply opinions upon it clash, can and must be settled in one way only—at the polls. November 7 offers every registered Californian that privilege. They shoul use it.

WHAT YOUTH NEED

Roaming the highways and byways of the nation and some six million jobless young people, many of them apperently following a blind alley to nowhere, most of them

This, at least, was the view pictured by Aubrey Williams, chief of the National Youth Admisistration, during his visit to California last week.

Many will challenge, and probably rightly, the appallingly high figures set by Administrator Williams. But even if the number of youths on the road to nowhere were only one-tenth his estimate, few will deny that opportunity remains the crying need of America's young people. It was opportunity, seized by millions, to make good on new land, in new industries and enterprises, that made America great.

Our progress and welfare has been largely bases on development of natural resources and utilization of the products of human ingenuity. An excellent example of that truth is the automobile industry. Development of our iron and steel resources made possible the automobile age. Engineering skill produced efficient motor vehicles and highways better than ever before existed. The growth of highway transportation in the last two decades created unparelled opportunities for millions of jobs and better opportunity in the future. This nation needs the dynamic development of expanding young industries. And so does youth.

As long as America remains rich in natural wealth and technical genius, the call of opportunity will not remain long silent.

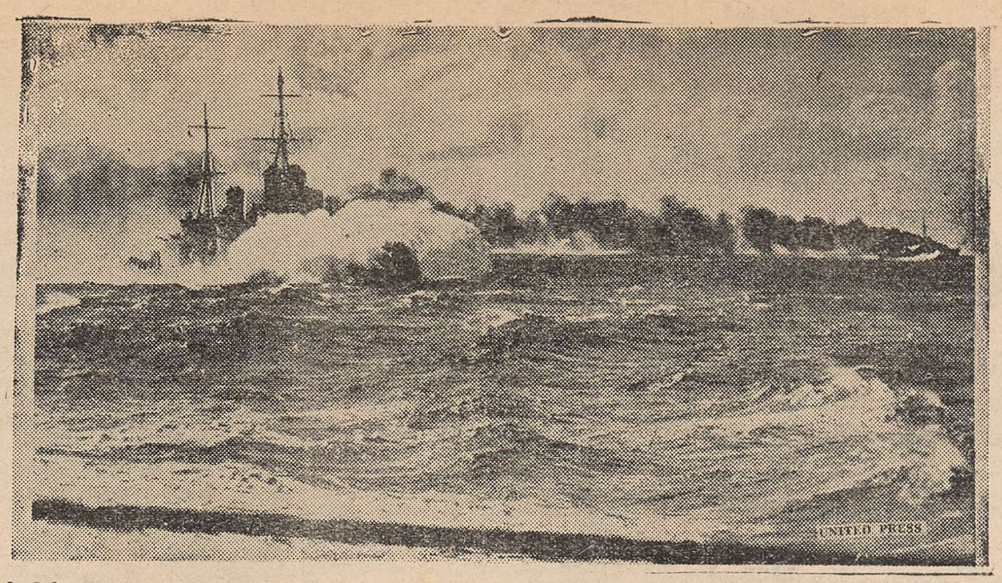
BRITISH DESTROYERS RUSH AID



Attacked by a U-boat in the North Seas, SOS signals of a British ship, upper right, were immediately answered by two British destroyers on patrol duty in the northern waters. Picture shows the destroyers, with smoke pouring from funnels, rushing to aid the stricken vessel.

Motoring in southern California and stopping off en route in Los Angeles, El Centro, Niland and Yuma to visit friends while attending the Grand Lodge of the Eastern Star convening in San Diego are Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Bowen of Norden, who know the climates and just when to visit to find a pleasant trip.

Mrs. Mary Rector of Norden and Auburn is a delegate of Truckee O. E. S. and was in San Diego last week for the encampment.

After several days in San Francisco and the bay cities, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Fredericks and party returned to Norden to resume their respective duties.

It has not been authentically learned why Mr. Elwood Tidwell of Tunnel Six, although somewhat bashful seems to be leading the field among the younger generation of the community.

With Hi Oliver, the S. P. company's yardmaster at Truckee confined to the General Hospital in San Francisco and C. W. Kramer in the same institution for a tonsilectomy, it may be that the two old timers will congergate on Treasure Island before their return in the vicinity of the Gayway and line up the switches for Rip 7 and the house track.

It is reported that Jerry Stout is planning the receipt of a new Chevrolet as soon as delivery can be made

Recent visitors to Sacramento included Mrs. Charles Vanderford of Tunnel Six.

It was with much concern that Carl Steinert and Lloyd Frandsen of Tunnel Six left for Treasure Island and much anxiety was felt until their return Monday.

Politically Speaking

by JOHN W. DUNLAP
United Press Staff Correspondent

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 26.— (UP)— Upton Sinclair really started this agitation for generous old age pensions when he introduced the EPIC campaign in 1933.

It was Sinclair who secured nearly 900,000 votes for governor in 1934 and gave therepublicans the scare of their lives.

And Sinclair has already been credited with the courage of his convictions.

When he came out of retirement to blast the ham and eggs pension plan, it might have been the turning point in the campaign. Many of the pension advocates got their start on the iSnclair bandwagon. To have their leader condemn the Thirty-Thursday scheme as unworkable may have shaken some confidence.

After several weeks working on the coast division, Okla Hensley has returned to Norden where his family resides.

Arthur Blodgett and Charles Palanek ore observed hiding pepples under the concrete floor of the newly built waiting room for the winter sports fans at Norden.

The Sugar Bowl association reports work is progressing along normal stages this week.

Mrs. Lowisa Kramer who has been visiting with her son at Tunnel Six for several days has returned to her home in Sacramento after stopping off en route to visit at the home of Mrs. August Olson for a day.

Sinclair was typical in his attack —he went the whole way.

"I have given my whole life to the cause of social justice, and I have no htought but to get it by any method that will work.

"The old folks are to get, not money, but warrants—pieces of paper with the word 'dollars' printed on them. After handing them to the old folks, the state assumes no responsibility. Their hopeh have been aroused by clever propaganda, and if you tell them it will not be possible to exchange these warrants for goods, they think you are taking money away from them and regard you as a robber . . .

"Small merchants are going to have their shelves cleared in the first few weeks and then they will be out of business, having no way to pay their bills and get more goods. The result will be the greatest slaughter of little business in our history. Little business will be wiped off the map."

Among the typical Sinclairisms during his speech was a reference to a "junkyard bank that could not function."

Final registrations show that 16 counties have increases, although the total registration of 3,605,907 for the state is some 5500 less than the record total last year. It is the higest for any special election and indicates that a new record vote will be set for this type of election.

Assemblyman Speaker Paul Peek has been making a "grass roots" swing around the state to sound out sentiment before the special session He is authority for the statement that Governor Olson will seek enactment of the Pierovich public power bill again, plus relief legislation, most of his defeated revenue program, and other issues which failed to emerge from the 1939 session.

Peek also took occasion to do some plugging in opposition to the referendum votes on the Atkinson oil control act and the small loan shark acts appearing on the Nov. 7 ballot

The genial Peek is Olson's key man n his legislative battles. The Long Beach attorney did a good job as presiding officer of the hell-raising lower house.

Tha Dick Olson situation cropped up again when the governor said the decision whether to return to the capital rests entirely with his son-private secretary. Richard went to Honolulu to regain his health and was off the state payroll during October. There are those within and without the party who feel there are too many problems created when the governor has his son as secretary They point to the Jimmy Roosevelt case.

THE
Ham and Eggs DICTATORS

What Do You Know About Them?

Nearly every intelligent voter, who reads before he votes, knows by this time that extravagant pension provisions of the Ham and Eggs scheme are just bait for the trap. The gold brick promise of 30-Every-Thursday is simply the come-on, designed to camouflage the fact that this Communist-backed program would give its promoters absolute power as DICTATORS OF CALIFORNIA!

WHAT ARE THE RECORDS OF THESE WOULD-BE DICTATORS?

HERE ARE THEIR RECORDS:

Willis Allen, director of the Ham and Eggs movement, was convicted in Federal Court in 1937 of misuse of the mails for fraudulent misrepresentatios in a hair-tonic promotion scheme.

His brother, Lawrence Allen, co-director of Ham and Eggs, was on the front pages just a year ago on asserted forgery charges.

DO YOU WANT "THE ALLEN BOYS" AND THEIR TRIBE AS DIRECTORS OF CALIFORNIA?

Nathan T. Porter, the Ham and Eggs "banking expert", was president of the defunct National Thrift Corporation when it went bankrupt a few years ago, wiping out millions of dollars in savings of 30,000 small investors.

DO YOU WANT MR. PORTER AS HEAD OF THE PROPOSED HAM AND EGGS BANK—FINANCED WITH YOUR MONEY AND AS SOLE CUSTODIAN OF YOUR TAX FUNDS?

....Wake up voters! California had been a good, clean place to live. LeLt's keep it that way. California wants no would-be Huey Longs. And California wants no part of the ruin and disaster that would follow enactment of the Ham and Eggs plan.
